Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Probaby not since the days of Two-Fingered Jack, who, when he did not hold them blandly bluffed his poker playing friends into thinking he held them, has bluff played such a part in human affairs. Imagine Mussolini sitting at the World's diplomatic table with a pair of duces, Japan with three of a kind, Germany with four jacks, Great Britain with four aces, and the United States with a royal flush. And Russia holding nothing at all, having thrown in its hand shortly after its Finnish "victory."

The relative merits of the imaginary hands held in this international poker game are not far really from the actual martial strength of the nations involved. Italy, since the time of Garibaldi has never displayed any military talent of a first class character. Caporetto and Guadalara are more nearly a measure of Italian valor than Mussolini's balcony speeches. In fact the two events were the logical precursors of the series of debacles which have overtaken the Italians in Lybia, Italian Somaliland, Eritrea and Ethiopia. We doubt if they are as martial minded as the Chinese. The Italian navy, which was intended to make the Meediterranean an Italian lake, sits close under shore batteries, while English battleships prowl the sea. Italian sailors so far have been more pusillanimous than Italian soldiers. If cornered on their own soil they might fight.

It is our opinion that the Japanese are too new to the world of mechanics to fight a machine war successfully. They undoubtedly have the courage, that kind of courage which had rather die than fail. But it was only a year or two ago that the newspapers reported that a war vessel, meeting with rought weather, had turned turtle and all aboard perished. They probably have overcome a great many mechanical difficulties in ship construction since that time. However, they have never met a first class power on land or sea. After the turn of the century Japan whipped Russia to be sure, but Russia has aways been a push-over. The only real victory on a major scale, in all Russian history was the defeat of Napoleon. And that defeat resulted from a retreat, which left the French army to starve and freeze in Moscow's subzero winter. Japan has been lucky, or if you like, extremely wise in choosing opponents. The Japanese navy even now is largely a coastal navy, incapable of protecting its far flung commerce on the seas, and we doubt, if compared to either American or the British navy, it is fifty per cent effective. Why should any American view Japanese mutterings and maunderings with alarm.

Germany is a powerful antagonist just so long as it is winning. The last war was a triumphant war, for Germany, actually until the last two months. Then the German people buckled back of the lines. The Allies lost most of the battles until almost the end. We believe that the people in Germany who remember the last war and the privations endured then, are today sowing the seeds of another German defeat. The Germans love good eating more than any other people on earth. They hate hardship, and all the hurrahing and boasting of Hitler, will not counteract the dreary lesson of experience.

We hear a tremendous lot of the proposed German invasion of England. But we hear nothing except occasionally a hint from Churchill regarding an English invasion of the continent. But despite commentators in newspaper

Contract Is Signed By Operators

AGREEMENT IN EFFECT FOR EIGHTEEN MONTHS

A momentous and important event to Nevada County took place yesterday.

An 18-months contract between the Mine Workers Protective League and large operating mines of the county was signed.

The signing of the working agreement climaxed six weeks of controversy, which at one point reached a threatened strike. A compromise ended the difficulties and the formal signing of the accepted agreement was done yesterday. The contract expires June 30, 1942. Previous contracts expired December 31st.

The contract recognizes the league as bargaining agency for the employees of all the large operating mines in the county and gives the independent labor union's recognized organizers the privilege of soliciting memberships during the noon hour, in the dry or at the shaft collars.

President Olney Donnelly and Secretary Ed Jones were authorized to sign the contract for the league.

Other signatures on the agreement were:

Albert Crase for the Idaho-Maryland, New Brunswick and Bullion Mines; John R. Mann for the Empire, North Star and Pennsylvania; R. J. Hendricks for the Murchie and Zeibright; C. C. Cushwa for the Spring Hill and Wallace Butler for the Golden Center.

City Prepared To Observe Holiday

Nevada City is prepared to observe Washington's Birthday Saturday.

There will be a general suspension of business. All the stores have signified they will close for the holiday. The bank, courthouse and city hall will be closed.

The mines will operate as usual, however.

ELKS LODGE TO GIVE PATRIOTIC SERVICE HERE

The Nevada City Elks Lodge will sponsor a patriotic program at the Elks Hall here tomorrow night. The program, in observance of Washington's Birthday, will be in line with the desires of the grand lodge.

The event will start promptly at 6:30 p. m. and will end by 7:30, enabling all those in attendance to see the high school basketball game if desired.

If the weather permits, the high school band will play a number on the street before the program in the Elks Hall commences.

Public Invited

The local Elks Committee on National Defense of which Curtis Clark is chairman, has issued an invitation to the public to attend the exercises, especially school children.

The program will open with selections by the high school band followed by singing by the elementary school chorus Frank Finnegan will deliver a ten minute oration on Washington.

The committee will serve free ice cream and cake to those in attendance with no limit on the consumption.

NEW BY-LAWS FOR CHAMBER

A full attendance is urged at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night in the City Hall, when new by-laws for the organization will be adopted.

H. F. Sofge, secretary, said the meeting will start promptly at 7:30. He said it is important that every member attend.

Hydraulicing On The March! Industry To Have Former Glory

Hydraulicing has staged a come-back!

The hopes of mining men for years to see a revival of the important hydraulic mining industry has become a reality.

The first definite indication of the revival developed this month when the Relief Hill Mines secured a permit from the California Debris Commission to operate and immediately piping began on a three-shift basis.

The so-called debris which results from hydraulicing will be stored behind the Upper Narrows Dam, which was recently completed. The building of the dam with federal funds was made possible by the assurances of hydraulic operators to use the storage facilities of the dam at a cost which will not exceed three cents per yard.

Clark In Charge

The operations at the Relief Hill are under the supervision of C. E. Clark. The large amount of water available at the present time is a distinct aid to the operations.

The Omega Hydraulic Mine, which will also deposit debris behind the Upper Narrows barrier, was to have secured its permit from the California Debris Commission this week and operations commenced at once. Work has been underway for several months at the Omega in preparation for huge scale hydraulicing when the permit was secured. Theodore Larsen is the superintendent at the mine.

NEW FALL OF RAIN

The rainfall figures neared the 55 inch mark for the season today. A morning storm developed last night and rain began falling this morning. Local residents can remember but a few days of sunshine since the middle of December.

Costello Acquitted Of Gold Charge

Emmett Costello, local resident, was acquitted by a federal court jury in Sacramento last night on a charge of highgrading.

The jury returned its verdict at 11 p. m. Costello returned to his home here today.

Nevada County Mines Payroll Continues To Gain With I.-M. Showing The Largest Increase

NUGGET SURVEY SHOWS THERE ARE 28 QUARTZ AND 13 PLACER MINES OPERATING IN COUNTY, EMPLOYING TOTAL OF 2,615 MEN

With the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation properties leading the way, employment in Nevada County mines increased again during the past month, giving the county the largest number of men employed in the mining industry since the hey-day of hydraulic and other modes of placer mining in the 1860.'s.

The Nugget survey of operating mines in the county show there are 28 operating quartz properties and 13 placer operations. The total employment figures are 2,615 with a payroll of $392,250.

The Idaho-Maryland payroll increased by approximately 25 during the past month. Most of the men were placed at work underground at both the Idaho-Maryland and New Brunswick properties. The total number of men employed at the Idaho-Maryland, New Brunswick and Bullion Mines is now 973.

Empire-Star Mines Holds Lead

The Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., which operates the Empire, North Star, Pennsylvania, Murchie and Zeibright, holds a slight lead over the Idaho-Maryland in the number of men employed. At its properties the Empire Star Mines employ 983 men. The Idaho-Maryland Corporation is the state's leading gold producer, however.

The elimination of any possibility of labor trouble with the signing of an 18-month contract between the Mine Workers Protective League and mine operators, is believed to have been the incentive for increased activity at the large operating properties in the Nevada City-Grass Valley area.

Ball Mill Planned

The most significant development is the announcement of the Empire Mine management of the decision to erect a 250 ton ball mill plant.

Most of the larger mines have mapped out programs of increased activity for the future. New machinery is being installed by the Pennsylvania Mine and a new underground hoist will soon be placed into operation at the North Star.

Headframe At Brunswick

The Idaho-Maryland Corporation at its New Brunswick Mine will soon have a gigantic double drum hoist

R. J. Hendricks To Supervise Work From New York

Although R. J. Hendricks will probably be in New York City for the next year, he will still supervise work at the Murchie and Zeizright Mines in this area.

Hendricks, who has been general manager of the properties for the past five years, left last week for New York to accept a position with the British Purchasing Commission.

However, he will still oversee operations at the Murchie and the Zeizright properties. Except for the leasers at the Murchie, operations at both mines at present is confined solely to development work.

At the Murcie drifting is being done on two veins contacted in the driving of the 6,000 foot crosscut. So far the mine management has given no official indication of the prospects of the veins.

A total of 100 men are employed at the Zeibright in development work. The mill is still idle because of the unavailability of tailings storage facilities.

North Star Miner Survives 150 Foot Fall Down Winze

Clifford LeDuc, North Star miner is in the Miners Hospital here recovering from severe bruises and a minor skull fracture, received in a 150 foot fall down a winze at the North Star Mine Monday night.

The accident occurred below the 10,000 foot level. A skip which had jumped the track knocked LeDuc down the winze.

LeDuc is considered fortunate to survive the fall without any serious fractures or even death.

DAM BUILDERS SUIT DEFENDANTS

Arthur Troiel and Alfride Troiel, his wife, this week filed a $11,437.03 damage suit against the Arundel Corporation and L. E. Dixon Company, contractors which constructed the Upper Narrows Debris Dam, charging theeir negligence caused serious injuries to Troiel on February 15, 1940.

The suit states Troiel, manager of the Troiel Companies, Inc., was at the dam at the request of the defendants and a hoisting frame became unbalanced and fell upon him, inflicting severe injuries.

"BOMBING" MYSTERY CLEARED

Young Pilot Said Note To Girl Attached To Rocks, Grease Gun, Dropped From Air

The mystery of the "bombing" of the home of Justice of the Peace Louis Woods of North San Juan Sunday has been cleared by Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen and Deputy Sheriff Fred Williford. The officers said they obtained a confesssion from a Grass Valley amateur pilot, whose name they did not divulge, to the dropping of rocks and a grease gun from a red airplane which flew over San Juan Sunday afternoon.

The airplane was out of the Nevada City airport. The pilot said he had tied a note to the rocks and the grease gun for Elaine Kessler of North San Juan but the note has never been found, although the rocks and the grease gun and the white rags to which they were attached have been recovered.

No Charges Against Pilot

Sheriff Tobiassen said he did not believe any charges will be preferred against the pilot, although he was violating the low by dropping missils from an airplane, by flying too low over a community and for operating the airplane without a license. He said the incident may be reported to the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

The rocks, officers said, were large enough to inflict serious injury or possibly death on anyone if hit.

The Boys Are Marching

On March 3, according to Secretary of War Stimson, the 7900 officers and men of the California National Guard will be inducted into the army, with both active and inactive units included in the muster. For the California guardsmen, the call to active duty comes after four postponements—and most of the men, impatient with waiting, will doubtless welcome the command to "Fall in"!

Already, California's military population has grown with surprising rapidity and there are evidences on every hand that Uncle Sam is girding for defense. At railroad stations, there are soldiers and sailors in nearly every crowd. On the highways, army trucks roll along in constantly increasing numbers. New army training camps, engineering depots and flying fields are springing into activity throughtout the State. And virtually every community and hamlet has its quota of men in training.

Veterans of the A. E. F., quietly watching the new troops, as the boys go about their duties, or as they go in quest of excitement during their hours "on leave", may find memories stirring which were laid away in moth balls years aback. For history, in a way, seems to be repeating itself. The merchant, standing in front of his store, and the carpentar, banging away up on the roof, can't be blamed if they turn back the pages of time a bit as they hear the tramp of army boots again. There's something about a soldier. . . . . If you doubt it ask the girl who's just met one!—Contributed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder if you can recall
The bird on Nellie's hat,
That used to utter cryptic speech
Which seemed extremely pat;
"Nellie won't wear dead birds again,"
I said to it one day,
But, "you don't know Nellie like I do,"
I heard that stuffed bird say.

I wonder if you remember Nellie as well as I do—but of course you do. She was a beautiful young thing, was Nellie; sweet tempered, well mannered, and a general faroviate with old and young alike.

Nellie sang in the village choir; I can see her yet. Standing there in all her springtime lovliness, with soulful eyes upraised, as she sang in tones that throbbed with feeling, the old lines—

"Not a sparrow falleth but its God doth know,
Just as when his mandate lays a monarch low."

It was very inspiring—a bit incongruous too! for, perched upon Nellie's new Easter hat, was a dead bird —its beak open as though about to twitter a protest and stark, glassy eyes surveying the scene with an expression of utter disapproval.

Nellie was a pedestal sitter; like many another woman of her type. She indulged in a self dramatization, envisioned herself as moving upon a higher aesthetic and spiritual plane than those about her and fairly glowed at the thought that she was a conservator of life's mysterious forces, a defender and protector of beauty and helpless innocence. One day while trailing clouds of sweetness and light, Nellie "received an illumination," all in a flash she saw that defunct bird upon her hat, in its true light—not as a desirable springtime adornment, but as a symbol of cruel and wanton destruction. Nellie hopped down from her pedestal and started a crusade which resulted in the enactment of legislation designed to afford a degree of protection to our little feathered brothers of the field and wood and secure to them their inherent rights of life, flight and song.

Nellie was highly gratified, so were all bird lovers. Feminine head gear was charmingly trimmed with ribbons and artificial flowers, moths consoled themselves with fur coats and silver fox pieces; it was thought that we had reached that high degree of refinement which finds its exemplification in kindly consideration for all things great and small.

Now, I've heard it rumored that stuffed birds, their bright plumage—even aigrettes are making their appearance in fashionable circles and threaten to become the vogue. I hope this is not true; for if the modern Nellie believes that "not a sparrow falls to the ground without its Heavenly Father's notice," she will certainly feel painfully self-conscious if compelled to attend church with a dead bird conspiciously displayed upon her new Easter hat.

Uncle Silas says: "I like oratory, but sometimes I wish we had a few strong, silent men in our legislative halls."

THE LIGHT THAT MUST NOT FAIL!

U. S. STANDS IN PERIL WARNS ROTARY SPEAKER

James Hyde, former professor in Stanford University, and in later years city councilman in Los Angeles, in a stirring address before the Rotary club today, called attention to some of the perils in which this nation stands.

While on the city council of Los Angeles, he was apprised six months before it was called, of the great strike on the waterfront. He was told exactly how the strike would be called, what would happen and why. The information came from sources that were in touch with Moscow. The entire plan was made in Moscow. Furthermore, he was apprised of a more far reaching plan. This was to seize control of some 350 industries in the United States. Controlling those, the communists could control the country. Such plans as these are often aided by innocent people who subscribe to methods, the end of which they do not know. The maritime strike along the entire coast, was to be the key to other strategic positions in the industrial life of the nation.

The trend in Europe, said Mr. Hyde, toward dictatorship is an old trend. Two thousand years ago Samuel was called upon by the Israelites to create a king. He warned his people of what would follow. Men, women and children would become the slaves of the state. The European trend, the speaker intimated, has been reflected in some degree in this country. In 1933, he said, for the first time, he found the doctrine first promulgated in this country, that it was a species of treason to criticize the president of the United States.

Our relations with Japan, he said constituted a serious blunder in foreign policy. If when Japan started to reach into China, we had immediately placed an embargo on all trade with Japan, there would have been no Japanese invasion, because Japan is far more dependent upon our trade for its very existence than it is upon China.

The speaker did not believe we would actually have to send troops abroad either to the European or the Asiatic front.

But he did forecast this country in arms, with a navy twice as large as that of Japan and an army or several million men, would be a very different kind of nation than it had been over the many decades of comparative peace. We might, for instance, he said, lend China 20,000 bombers, and China could, in that event, easily bomb the undefended, tinder cities of Japan.

He concluded that even though for a time he gave up that individual initiative which has made this nation great, that personal liberty guaranteed to us under the Constitution, in the long run the American people would come back to it.

Plans Underway Here For St. Patrick's Ball

Plans are underway for the annual St. Canice Catholic Church St. Patrick's Dance on March 15th.

A committee meeting was held Tuesday night. The dance will be at the Nevada City High School gymnasium.

The entertainment committee is headed by Dr. Water Hawkins. Emmett Gallagher is chairman of the amusement committee and Frank Finnegan chairman of the advertising committee.

and by radio, we have a feeling that a nation which conducted so successful a retreat from Dunkirk, when the time is ripe ,can go back by the same route, or another, and march to victory.

If there is any lesson in history which needs to be remembered more than another. It is that free peoples are the best warriors. This we think is because the ideals of free peoples are higher than those of automatons or slaves. Life is worth more to them and they will fight to preserve those ideals that make it worth more. Republics can fail of course with inferior leadership and divided counsel. But from a practical viewpoint we have never felt there was any reason to doubt our ultimate victory in a battle with all the dictatorships at once. Even if England falls, given a little time to prepare, we shall be able to defeat the dictators on land or sea. We have the men, the ships, the money, the natural resources, and the ideals to defend, ideals worth defending. Our navy today is second to none. Our military and naval leadership is as competent as that of Great Britain.

From Washington often comes a note of desperation, a jittery note, an urge to headlong haste. We deplore it. England to be sure is a frightful example of war savagery. But England, for as long as the memory of man runs, has always blundered in its foreign relations. Blundered into war and out again. Losing all battles and finally and painfully winning the war. Our foreign diplomacy is not to blame for England's predicament today, and Americans should not feel any responsibility for it. But if defending England, in the long run defends us also, let us put our back into it, and see that England has all the war tools needed for victory.

Car Decides To Take Trip Without Driver

Without the permission or even knowledge of anyone, a Mercury car belonging to Leland Michell of this city, "took off" from Bill Williamson's service station down Pine Street shortly before noon, stopping only when it struck the Sierra Hotel fence and a street sign.

The unoccupied car wedged so tightly against the sign and fence the auto tow operators had difficulty in extracting it. The automobile nearly turned over. Damage was not serious. The accident was investigated by Chief of Police Max Solaro.

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN THURMAN AT THE STATE CAPITOL

Perhaps some of my readers wonder just how busy their legislators is in session so we will give a little outline of your assemblyman's schedule as it will be when the legislature reconvenes on March 3rd.

First, we might mention that we are now giving some 3850 odd bills which have been introduced, the once over at our home. These bills were received last week from the state printer. We are checking the various measures such as mining bills, fish and game bills and other measues which we believe may be of interest to our district. In fact, all of the bills have to be checked to see if there are any measures, which if passed, might be harmful to the rural and mountain area.

All of these 3850 measures, except for the few which have already been passed, will be heard in their respective committees after the legislature reconvenes. Some 58 committees will hold hearings on the various measures and such bills as are approved by the committees, will then go to the floor for a vote and possible passage.

To give my readers a little idea of how busy the legislators will actually be next month and until the session adjourns some time in May or June, here is your assemblyman's committee schedule:

Monday—8:30 a. m. Public charities and corrections. 7:30 p. m. Ways and means committee.

Tuesday—8:30 a. m. Commerce and navigation and mines and mining. 10 a. m. Motor vehicle committee. 7:30 p. m. Ways and means.

Wednesday—10 a. m. Motor vehicles.

Thursday—8:30 a. m. Natural resources committee. 7:30 p. m. Fish and game committee.

Friday—10 a. m. Fish and game.

In addition to the above, we are on two other committees, soldiers and sailors affairs and reapportionment, which will also meet at the call of the chairman. The reapportionment committee will probably be as active a committee as any of the larger committees and we will no doubt spend several evenings in session.

Committee hearings, as above noted, are held in the morning and evening with the two houses, the senate and assembly, in session each afternoon from 2 o'clock until 5 or 6 o'clock. During the latter part of the session, when the majority of bills have been heard in committee, the senate and assembly held night sessions as well as meeting in the afternoon.

In addition to all of this, your legislator receives a considerable amount of correspondence which must be answered and also from time to time meets with delegations from his home district or individuals, who are interested in legislation which may be before a committee or before the house. And he must be at his desk in the assembly chamber when the house is in session if he expects to be on the job to protect his district against harmful legislation or press the green button which gives an aye vote, for legislation which if passed, would prove of benefit to the district and the state as a whole.

So, all in all, your legislators have a busy schedule and if they are on the job, as most of them are, they will not have much time for play while the legislature is in session.

RANDALL LOSES FIGHT TO STOP EXTRADITION

Carl Randall, alias Robert Miller, whose account of the murder of two men near Nevada City was branded as a hoax after a thorough investigation, is enroute to Illinois to face parole violation charges. Governor Olson granted Illinois's extradition request.

Arrested on a vagrancy charge in San Diego, Randall told his murder tale, but refused to lead authorities to the spot where he said he had buried the bodies, and officials indicated the murder "confession" was a phony intended to stall Illinois officers in their attempt to extradite him.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen questioned Randall at length but he said after consulting with an attorney he "decided not to talk."

RFC LOANS FOR STRATEGIC METAL DEVELOPMENT

Walter W. Bradley, State Mineralogist, desires to call attention to an amendment to the original act relating to loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which extends the authority of the RFC to make loans for the development of deposits of any strategic or critical mineral of value in time of war.

The amended act was approved September 16, 1940. By it, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authorized and empowered to make loans to corporations, individuals, and partnerships engaged in the development of a quartz ledge, or vein or other orebody, or placer deposit, containing gold, silver or tin, or gold and silver, or any strategic or critical mineral which in the opinion of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would be of value to the United States in time of war, when, in the opinion of the RFC there is sufficient reason to believe that through the use of such a loan—there will be developed a sufficient quantity of ore, or placer deposits of a sufficient value to pay a profit upon mining operations.

SPORTS

Traditional Rivals Will Battle At Gym Here Tomorrow Night

The Nevada City High School Yellowjackets will be out for blood when they tangle tomorrow night on the local school's gymnasium with the Grass Valley Miners.

So far this season in the Sierra Foothill League the Yellowjaskets have not won a game and Coach Ed Frantz reports his men are pretty sore about it and intend to break into the win column at the expense of their traditional rivals from the other side of Town Talk.

Observers say the Yellowjackets will have to go some because the Miners already hold one victory over the locals and during the season's play have demonstrated they are one of the best hoop teams in the Sierra Foothill loop.

Frantz Instills Confidence

Coach Frantz, who is an expert basketball player himself, accounting for 23 points for the local Pepsi Cola team in a game at Marysville last Saturday night, has instilled a lot of confidence in his squad for tomorrow night's battle and spectators are promised some interesting surprises as far as the Yellowjackets playing is concerned.

The B team of this city is given a good chance to dump the Miner B squad. Clemente Henwood, who had been ill, will be back in the lineup.

Coach Frantz' probable starting lineup for the A team will be Allen Spracklen and Ed Jacobs at the forward posts; Clifford Masterson at center and Ronald Joyal and Chick Thomas in the guard positions.

Local Officers Attend Sheriffs Convention

Sheriff Carl J Tobiassen and Deputy Sheriff Carl T. Larsen of this county are in attendance at the convention of California sheriffs in Sacramento. The convention will come to a close tonight.

Approximately 150 sheriffs and deputy sheriffs of the state are attending the conclave. Noted speakers appeared on the two day program. Much discussion was given to National Defense by the law enforcing officers.

FISH AND GAME BILLS PENDING

By ALLEN G. THURMAN
Assemblyman

Of interest to the sportsmen of the district there are numerous fish and game bills before the legislature. Many of these bills concern the commercial fishing interests while others of particular interest to the sportsmen.

Sixty one fish and game bills have been introduced in the senate while 112 fish and game measures were introduced in the assembly, for a total of 174 such bills.

This area is well represented on the fish and game committees of the two houses. Your assemblyman is a member of the fish and game committee of the lower house, while Senators Charles Brown, Jesse Mayo and Jerrold L. Seawell, all of the mountain area, are members of the senate committee on fish and game. So with this kind of representation, the sportsmen of the area are assured that their problems will have a good hearing.

A few of the bills we will briefly mention herewith.

S. B. 207 by Mayo, amends the fish and game code to permit the opening of trout season in Tuolumne County on May first instead of May 30th as at present.

S. B. 54 by Dillinger, amends the code to eliminate the Silver Lake game refuge.

S. B. 309 by Seawell, adds a new section to the code, prohibiting the use of any net to take fish for commercial purposes in the waters of the Sacramento-San Joaquin stream system above Carquinez Straits above said bridge, Suisun Bay, all sloughs, the Sacramento River from its mouth to its source, the San Joaquin River from its mouth to its source, and all tributaries of either of said rivers.

The writer is author of five fish and game bills in the lower house, A. B. 619 amends the code to prohibit the taking of salmon with snag or gaff-hooks. This bill has the supports of the sporesmen throughout the state.

A. B. 1115 amends the code regarding Mackinaw trout, taking the word cutthroat out of the code and setting the limit at five per day, regardless of size.

A B. 1116 and 1117 amend the code with certain changes in districts 1 and 1 3/8 placing Alpine County in district 1 3/8 along with the Mothe Lode counties to the south.

A. B. 1118 amends the wording of Section 610 of the Fish and Game Code relative to the limit on trout and white fish. No change is made in the limit.

Briefly, the above are the bills which have been introduced by the legislators who represent the various counties of this area. To discuss all of the fish and game bills would take more space than is available, but from time to time we will discuss some of the more important bills as they come up for consideration before the fish and game committee.

NEW CYCLOTRON TO OPEN NEW ERA IN ATOM STUDY

BERKELEY, Feb. 20. — Nearly half the steel for the world's largest cyclotron, the University of California's 4900 ton atom smasher, has been put into place, engineers reported today.

A total of 3700 tons of steel, as much as is used in one of Uncle Sam's cruisers, will go into the magnet alone. The base and half of the vertical columns of the magnet have been completed.

Dr. Donald Cooksey, assistant director of the Radiation Labortaory, said that the magnet will be completed sometime n April. Work on the building which will house the cyclotron will begin when erection of the magnet is finished. Univeresity scientists expect the machine to be eady for operation in the fall of 1942.

The new cyclotron will dwarf the 225 ton atom smasher on the Berkeley campus, now the largest in the world. Professor E. O. Lawrence, inventor of the cyclotron expects the new machine to open up new worlds to science.

The 4900 ton cyclotron will be at least five times as powerful as the 225 ton machine. It will bombard atoms with a beam of atomic particles traveling at 60,000 miles per second, which corresponds to 100,000,000 celectron volts of energy.

A CALIFORNIA INSTITUTION SERVING YOU

CUT STATE TAX TO OFFSET U. S. TAX, IS CRY

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

With state revenues soaring to new highs, due to the impact of national defense spending, the California Legislature, which has been forced to wrestle with deficit problems for the past decade, now finds itself confronted with the question of what to do about a prospective general fund surplus.

To the average farmer or business man, the prospect of a goodly surplus after ten years of red ink would come as welcome relief. Certainly it would'nt be construed as a problem.

In State government, however, with scores of groups constantly clamoring for special appropriations and special projects, a surplus can be —and often is—more dangerous than a deficit. In fact, a deficit, if it isn't too large, often serves a good purpose in that it puts a damper on extravagant spending. Conversely, the prospect of a surplus is viewed with alarm by conservative lawmakers because it is likely to encourage spendthrift policies and set a spending pace in comparatively good times which the state can't possibly afford to maintain in times of stringency.

The situation which confronts the 1941 legislature is roughly as follows:

While a state deficit still exists, which it is variously estimated will total from $40,000,000 to $47,000,000 at the end of the current biennium on June 30 next, state tax sources—swollen by the tremendous defense spending program of the federal government —will not only wipe out that deficit, but will pile up a surplus by the end of the coming biennium on June 30, 1943.

On the amount of the surplus which will exist at the conclusion of the next biennium, if expenditures are kept within reason and revenues continue to zoom upwards, Governor Olson and leaders of the legislative economy bloc disagree. But both agree on the fact that there will be a surplus — the governor saying it will total around $11,000,000, while leaders of the economy bloc insist it will total nearer $40,000,000.

There is also disagreement on the subject of what to do about the prospective surplus and it promises to become one of the hottest issues of the second half of the legislative session.

Governor Olson, in effect, told the legislature in his budget message that he wanted to pay off the state deficit in full and build up a nest egg for a rainy day.

Leaders of the legislative economy bloc, however, have expressed the fear that even an anticipated surplus will be too great a temptation to free-handed spending and extravagant experimentation.

As a consequence, some of the economy minded legislators contemplate a detemined drive to reduce state taxes for the next two years, as a partial offset to the increased federal tax burden which taxpayers must bear. Under this program, the deficit would be reduced to a more reasonable amount, perhaps $25,000,000, but that shortage would be maintained as a barrier against excessive spending.

While no definite agreement has yet been reached on details of the tax reduction program, it is probable that it will include a slash in the state sales tax from 3 to 2½ per cent, which amounts to a reduction of 16 2/3 per cent—and a like reduction in the state income tax and the bank and corporation franchise tax. These are the state's three biggest income producers and include taxes which fall on both the individual taxpayer and business and industry. The cuts would be for a two year period and would amount to a saving, it is estimated, of about $50,000,000.

Without attempting to pass on the program proposed, inasmuch as it is still in rough draft form, certainly the purpose of the plan will be applauded by all taxpaying groups.

The current era of "prosperity" in state revenues, it should be borne in mind constantly, has been bought, and will continue to be bought as long as it lasts, at terrific cost. The federal tax load to finance the defense program will call for sacrifice on the part of nearly every taxpayer, big or small. And any temporary "prosperity" occasioned by defense spending must be viewed realistically—as both synthetic and very costly. Under the circumstances, state and local tax burdens must be held to an absolute minimum—and a reduction in state taxes, even if only temporary, might save many taxpayers from being plunged into bankruptcy.

MINING NEWS OF NEVADA COUNTY

NEVADA COUNTY MINES PAYROLL

Steady progress is being made in the new cyanide plant at the Scotia Mine and reports from the Lava Cap indicate the diamond driling development program is steadily advancing. Developing is continuing at the Murchie and Zeibright properties.

One of the major developments during the month was the start of hydraulic operations at the Relief Hill Mine near North Bloomfield. The Relief Hill is the first hydraulic property to operate under the sanction of the California Debris Commission as the result of the completion of the Upper Narrows Debris Dam.

The resumption of hydraulicing was marked by the availability of an abundant supply of water.

Leaves For New York—

Robert J. Hendricks is on a leave of absence as general manager of the Murchie, Zeibright and Pennsylvania Mines for the Empire-Star Mines, Ltd. Hendricks left last week for New York, where he will be connected in an official capacity for the British Purchasing Commission.

Old Golden Center Mine Headframe Is Rapidly Disappearing

One of Grass Valley's outstanding landmarks, the old Golden Center Mine headframe, is being dismantled.

The Golden Center was established in 1914 by Charles Brockington from a ledge which originally was worked from a basement of a private home.

When the Cooley Butler interests acquired the Golden Center, operations continued until the new surface workings were completed at the Scotia Mine, which connects with the Golden Center underground. The Scotia has more space for a tailings dump than was available at the Golden Center property, which is located in the heart of Grass Valley.

Down From Relief Hill—

C. E. Clark, manager of the Relief Hill Hydraulic Mines, was a visitor in this city Tuesday.

George Hallock, manager of the 16 to 1 Extension at Alleghany and president of the California Hydraulic Mining Association, was a Nevada City visitor yesteday.

Governor Olson Joins Group Opposed To Excess Profits Tax On Gold Mining Industry

Governor Culbert L. Olson, in a letter to the governors of western states and Alaska, urges that gold mining should be exempt from excess profits taxes.

"We in California believe that gold mining should be exempt from excess profits taxes as under the excess profits tax law of 1917," stated Olson.

"This explains the California legislature's adoption of assembly joint resolution No. 8 in which I heartily concur.

Maintain Employment

"It is a mutual interest of our states to maintain employment and to encourage the development of ou gold bearing deposits during these distressing times. Therefore, I urge you to lend all possible assistance in this matter."

Copies of the letter have been mailed to the governors of the Territory of Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, New Mexico, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah and Washington.

Price Is Fixed

The assembly's resolution points out that the price of gold is fixed and that the current increases in the cost of labor and materials are seriously limiting the opportunity for profitable mining of gold, and "any further handicaps on gold production will further discourage investment in gold mining enterprises."

The resolution adds:

Many gold mining enterprises have been conducted and are being conducted by companies with limited capital, and have operated without substantial profits in past years, and the imposition of excess profits taxes on such companies would seriously cripple all such small enterprises.

INCREASED ACTIVITY AT IDAHO MARYLAND PROPERTIES NOTED

Increased activity underground at both the Idaho-Maryland and New Brunswick Mines during the past month resulted in a material boost in the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation payroll.

Besides keeping the mills running to capacity, the management of the Idaho-Maryland properties have been going ahead with considerable development work.

The employment figures of the company show there are 303 underground at the Idaho, 147 on the surface, 31 in the mill and 45 on the private operating payroll. At the New Brunswick there are 336 underground, 56 on the surface and 11 in the mill. The Bullion Mine, operations of which are surpervised by the Idaho-Maryland, employs 44 men.

Preliminary work to the installation of the huge new hoisting equipment and the erection of a new steel headframe at the New Brunswick are continuing.

"HIGH SIERRA" A MANHUNT ON SCREEN SUNDAY

They've cornered Humphrey Bogart, "the last of the Dillinger mob" 12,000 feet up on the breath-freezing heights of Mt. Whitney. That's ten times as high as the Empire State Building.

Bogey is "Mad Dog" Earle in Warner Bros'. "High Sierra" which opens Sunday at the Nevada Theate. A sheriff's posse of 100 armed men is in pursuit. Their guns blurt as they catch fleeting glimpses of the leg-weary fugitive.

Bogey replies with a Tommy gun, with stacatto stabs of fire as he makes his last stand.

"It won't be long now," radio announcer Sam Hays is telling the world over his portable "mike". "Anything can happen. This crowd is here to be in at the kill and it looks like they aren't going to be disappointed".

Bogart is running up a slope while the sheriff's posse, deployed along a wavering front, snipes at the sheer face of the mountain. He runs unevenly. He is wounded. Rocks and uneven grades make an impossible terrain.

Bogart is half way up the mountain side by now and the posse is close behind. The fugitive fires his Tommy gun occasionally. Showers of dust and pebbles mark his hits while the posse takes cover. He goes down for a minute, then rises and by a superhuman effort scales that last grade boulder. He's safe for the moment on the big rock lodged between two towering cliffs. It's an empty victory, though—that last refuge is a blind alley.

EXCAVATION STARTS FOR 250 TON BALL MILL AT EMPIRE

A 250 ton capacity ball mill will be installed at the Empire Mine as an auxiliary to the 8 unit stamp mill. Foundations for the new mill have already been started.

The output at the Empire, which has been in continuous operation since 1850, will be materially increased by the installation of the new milling unit.

Plan Additional Equipment

Besides the 250 ton ball mill, additional milling equipment will be placed in operation, including a new flotation setup.

The Magenta shaft, which the Empire management ordered cleaned out after a cavein, is now timbered and conditioned to the 600 foot level with a modern pump eliminating any possibility of surface water from endangering the lower workings of the mine.

Workings Made Safe

Digging through the soft slime and debris which filled near-surface workings was a ticklish job, but the final project was made safe and secure with the use of heavy steel rails as sets and the lagging of all sides of the incline shaft. While not of great length the shaft has been called one of the most complete and secure in the district.

At the time of the surface cave at the Magenta the 1100 Empire raise was bulkheaded to prevent any descent into the main property.

North Star Depth Now 10,450 Feet

Sinking continues at the North Star Mine, deepest mine in the Nevada City-Grass Valley area. The mine depth is now 10,450 feet.

Excavation is now underway at the 8600 level at the North Star Mine for the installation of a huge underground hoist, similar to the one recently placed in use on the 4600 level at the Empire Mine.

The new machinery is already on the North Star property, awaiting completion of the excavation work before being taken underground.

CYANIDE PLANT READY IN MARCH

The cyanide plant being construct- at the Scotia, from where all work Center Mining Company management, is expected to be completed some time next month and placed into immediate use.

The plant will eliminate the necessity of trucking the concentrates of the property to the Selby smelter.

Normal operations are continuing at the Scotia, from where al work of the Golden Center-Scotia properties are conducted. The mill is reported to be operating to near capacity. Cooley Butler of Los Angeles is the owner of the properties and Wallace Butler general manager.

Amendment To RFC Act Provides Loans For Mining Strategic War Minerals

The attention of mining interests has been called to a recently enacted amendment to the congressional act relating to loans by Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The amendment, according to Walter W. Bradley, state mineralogist, extends the authority of the RFC to make loans for the development of deposits of any strategic or critical mineral of value in time of war.

It authorizes loans to corporations, individuals or partnerships engaged in the development of a quartz ledge, or vein, or other ore body of placer deposit containing gold, silver, tin, or gold and silver, or any strategic or critical mineral which in the opinion of the RFC would be of value to the United States in time of war.

Mill At Central Mine Running To Capacity; Lava Cap Employs 331

The mill at the Central Mine of the Lava Cap group is operating at capacity with ore from the Central and Banner shafts.

At the present time the only special development work being carried on at the Lava Cap is a diamond drill program to determine the extent and possibilities of ore for future operations.

There are now 200 men employed at the Central and 131 at the Banner, giving a total of 331 of men employed at the Lava Cap properties. O. E. Schiffner is general manager of the mines and John Chandler is superintendent.

Do you have to "TUCK YOUR CAR IN" at night?

Not if it's One of these Four New Additions to the BUICK SPECIAL Line that Compact Automobile Bigness into Fewer Bumper-to-Bumper Inches

HERE of late the modern automobile has been giving a pretty good imitation of a man getting up in the morning.

It has stretched and s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-d —until today you almost have to have a shoehorn to get a car of any size tucked away in the family garage.

We thought something ought to be done about that.

So today in Buick dealers' showrooms you'll see four new models, additions to the 1941 Buick SPECIAL line.

They are typical Buicks on every count—steady, tireless travelers with a big 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL straight-eight under their bonnets.

But by the simple step of compacting all this ability, goodness and value on a 118-inch wheelbase, we've trimmed inches off the over-all length—and dollars off the cost.

We're passing those dollar savings on to you, which makes three reasons for going to see these honeys now: You'll go for their ability—your wife will go for trim size and easy handling — and both will stand up and cheer for the easily-reachable price.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $915 for the Business Coupe delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.
